

I do not believe the FCC should permit further market consolidation. One only needs to look at the history of our country to see that one of our greatneses was the volume of public opinion that was expressed in the various newspapers, followed by large numbers of radio and then television resources. Now looms a drastic reduction in what has already become a greatly reduced number of these options for expression. PLEASE do not allow the further diminishment of our ability to hear and see ALL possible information available to we, the U.S. public! Thank you for your attention.
